Archives

Definition: Buildings which are used for archives which are open to the public. There may be more than one archive held on each site.

Archival organisations in London are particularly stable compared to other types of cultural establishments, with 550 institutions recorded in 2019 and again in 2022. This follows the closure of the Type Museum and the opening of the Iniva Stuart Hall Library. Archival organisations are heavily concentrated in Central London.
