How we can shape public confidence and trust...

London's strongest models to date show the key drivers of public confidence and trust in the Metropolitan Police Service.

This brings practical considerations for police and partners...

Confidence

Are local community leaders and strategic partners involved in your work?

Do you know all of your local communities? Do you understand their concerns, and have mechanisms in place for two-way communication?

Police Accountability & Standards

Feeling the MPS maintains high standards and responds to feedback; that police are held accountable and represent communities they serve.

Personal Security and Local Safety

Feeling the local area is a safe place - both personally, and for vulnerable aroups - and not feeling worried about crime. ASB. and drugs locally.

Community Crime Problems

Feeling issues such as violent crime (gun crime, knife crime and gangs) and hate crime are not problematic in the local area.

Local Patrol Visibility

Whether someone says they see an officer in their area 'at least weekly'.

Local Information Provision

Whether someone feels 'very well informed' about policing in their area.

Individual Demographics

Even controlling for these things, some groups of people are still less likely to respond positively – particularly black Londoners.

How is your local work driving effective engagement – listening, responding, and ensuring fair encounters?

Does your team have an effective grip on performance and strategic oversight?

How do you promote high standards in your team, and show the community that officers are held to account?

Trust

Every interaction, with every officer, matters to the public.

Those who trust and feel confident are more likely to
